AMUSEMENTS.

Tony Pastor at the Park. Tony Pastor will probably do an enormous week at the Park. He and his vaudeville company opened yesterday at that house, and hundreds of people were turned away because there was not room enough for them. This was equally true of both performances, and last night had the theater been again as large as it is it could nct have accommodated all the people who wanted to get in. The performance quite justifies the patronage, for it is up to Tony Pastor's well-known vaudeville standard. As the seasons go by that handsome mustache Tony wears becomes more plentifully sprinkled with gray, but he remains the same favorite with his audiences, and invariably has new songs for them. As a manager he grows more admirable each season, for his present company is one of strength compared to the average vaudeville attraction.

The performance opens with George Austin in his slack wire act, in which comedy is mingled with athletics in an able manner. Maud Raymond in her topical songs and imitations is good looking and entertaining, and Ed Lawrence and Nina Harrington give a Bowery boy and girl act which brought down the house yesterday. Tony Pastor follows with a collection of songs, many of them relating to political subjects. As one hit after another was scored the audience applauded wildly. James B. and Fanny Donovan give an Irish sketch, and the Rogers brothers in a Ger-man sketch are very funny. Billy Clifford and Maud Huth do an unusual turn, and one which appears to catch the audience every time. Lew Dockstader, the old-time minstrel, turns his attention largely to politics, and being absolutely nonpartisan in his hits, is applied by people of all political faiths. The performance closes with an acrobatic act by the three Bouffons, which is both unique and clever. The com-pany will be here all this week, with a matinee each day. To get Tony Pastor and Lew Dockstader with a dozen high-class vaudeville people on one bill at a popular-price house is an unusual thing. Next week the Park has "Coon Hollow," one of the big comedy-drama successes of recent years.

Empire-Roof Garden Company. Willis & Hasting's "Roof Garden" Vaude ville Company opened the Empire for the season yesterday, giving a show that was lively and bright throughout and absolutely free from "anything to shock the most fastidious." The electric-fire dance of Mile. Rialta was the feature of the performance. The dance is a further evolution of the "butterfly" drapery-waving exhibition. The mademoiselle has added to the usual limelight effects the use of a glass plate in the stage through which lights are thrown on her billowing draperies from below and also carries a row of incandescent lights along each lower limb, where the outside seam of a pair of -er bluomers is said to be. When the lamps are turned on there is a blend of waving silk web, pink tights, lights and girl that makes a really beautiful composition-a sort of incarnated pousse cafe, with serpentine accompaniments. Phil and Nettie Peters were recalled again and again in their nonsensical dialogues and songs. Oscar Sisson and Ethel Florence gave a clever and laughable comedy act. Others of the company were Estella Wills, contralto; John Wills and Harry Hastings, in a bit of descriptive work that was quite up to the average of that sort of thing; Kitty Kursall and Violet St. Clair, in buck and wing dancing; Christo, billed as the 122-pound wonder," who does some remarkable balancing of heavy weights on his chin, and Carnes and Webster, a mu-sical team, one of v. nome—the blacked one -had the temerity to spring a brand-new joke. It took well, despite the timeconored theory among minstrel and vaudeville workers that the people won't stand that sort of thing. The afterplece, "A High Time on the Roof Garden," was livelier than the usual afterpiece, which seems vent a crush at the ending of the performgenerally to have Several specialties and choruses were The box office in the theater as newly

NEW RUNNING RECORD

B. J. WEFERS SPRINTS 300 YARDS IN THIRTY-ONE SECONDS.

Fast Time by Cycler Tom Butler with a Quintet Pacing-Mile by Michael Welsh in 1:52 4-5.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 .- B. J. Wefers, the world's champion runner, established a new world's record at three hundred yards at the New Jersey Athletic Club carnival, at Bergen Point, N. J., this, afternoon. It was a wonderful performance, as he had to round two turns to go the distance. There were three timers and two of them made the time 31 seconds flat, while C. H. Mende, of Philadelphia, stopped his watch at 30 4-5. In the final of the onehundred-yards dash there were five men running and Wefers, having the pole, was crowded by Jarvis, of Pittsburg, and he halted a little about twenty yards from the tape in order to avoid a foul. The winner, Sulzer, beat Jarvis by about a foot and the Pittsburg man was at least half that distance before Wefers at the finish. However, the judges placed Wefers second after he had made a claim of being crowded, but he did not blame Jarvis. W. A. Demerulle and Edward Dupre, of New Orleans, also took part in the one hundred yards trials, but neither of them was placed. Sid Jones, of Birmingham, who had a handicap allowance of two and one-half inches in the running high jump, failed to get into the first three. BICYCLE RACES.

National Meet of the Press Cycle

Club at Boston. BOSTON, Sept. 7 .- The national meet held by the Press Cycle Club at the Charles River Park to-day was a great success and 15,000 were in attendance. Nearly all the heats were hotly contested and the competition was terrific. The fast mile of Tom Butler with a quintet pacing proved one of the most interesting events of the day. The Western men showed up well, especially in one-third open, Kiser and Shreen, of Ohio, winning their heats and getting second and third in the finals. The pace in the race was terrific. The chief attraction, however, was the tandem races, and the different heats proved intensely exciting. One mile open, amateur: Ellery M. Blake, Keene, N. H., won. Time, 2:09 3-5. One mile open, professional: Tom Butler, Cambridge, won; Watson Coleman, Boston, second; W. C. Sanger, Milwaukee, third.

"YELLOW" PLAYING. Neither Indianapolis Nor St. Paul Did

Creditable Work. the Indianapolis Journal. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.-The St. Paul and Indianapolis teams broke even to-day, each winning one game. Both games were very poor exhibitions of baseball, the morning game being about the worst ever seen on the home ground. There were less than a hundred people present, and that may have had something to do with the "yellow" ball which was exhibited. The afternoon game does not look so bad on paper, but it was lifeless and unexciting, the principal feature of the game being the loafing of every man in the two teams. In the morning game no one seemed to care whether he played ball or not, and the work of both teams was roundly hissed by the few spectators pres-The locals have been putting up

Mullane and Damon were the opposing pitchers in the first game and both of them pitched fair ball. If the support in the field had been good it would have been a pretty contest. The visitors secured their first run in the first inning. Shannon singled and scored on a double by Motz. In the second two more runs were scored. Hollingsworth "mummified" Stewart's grounder and Mullane threw Woods's wild to first. Both men scored on Hollingsworth's muff of McCarthy's pop-up. In the fourth the visitors got four runs. George and O'Rourke made errors and Krauss gave bases to Stewart, Wood and Hogan. Damon hit for three bases and forced Stewart in. McCarthy singled and Wood and pitch. Two more were scored in the seventh. Shiebeck took first on fielders' choice and Stewart scored him with a long homerun drive over the fence. The Saints scored two in the fourth inning on a double, two singles and a steal; three in the fifth on one by Stewart and a half dozen stolen bases, and one base hit; two in the sixth on an error by Stewart and a home run by Spies, and one in the seventh on errors by

He had good control of the ball, and his speed was something terrific. Johnny Ward says: "Considered purely from the standpoint of relative inate strength, I think the Cleveland team to-day is the strongest in the League. Cleveland has undeniably the greatest corps of pitchers in the League, while as hitters and fielders they are little, if any, in-ferior to Baltimore. It is also true that the latter team has depended much on its kicking ability and bulldozing tactics against other clubs. but in the Clevelands they more than meet their match in these respects, and, as a consequence, seem to actually lose their nerve. But why, then, does Baltimore win the pennant? Because Baltimore plays every day and all the time to the utmost of her skill and ability, and Cleve-land does not."

RUNNING RACES.

Oriental Handicap at Gravesend Won by Dutch Skater. NEW YORK, Sept. 7 .- The card for the first races of the fall meeting at Gravesend to-day was a fine one, according to the card, but so many good ones were scratched that it was but a skeleton of the original. In the Oriental handicap Flying Dutchman was the favorite, but he finished in the ruck. Dutch Skater won very easily, with Belmar second, hard driven from the head of the stretch. The Prospect stakes was thought to be a good thing for George Rose, but he, too, fell by the wayside, being unplaced at the end. Sunny Slope showed the way for three furiongs and then fell back for the Friar, who took a good lead and heid it to the end. Cleaphus came strong at the end and got second place. In the opening race Zanone and Hazlet were equal favorites, but neither was placed. Caseeopia took the lead at the fall of the flag and held it to the end, although she had to be driven hard to win by a length from Donalndo, both at long odds. Urania was the favorite for the second race, and she had all she could do to win. In the fifth race Tom Cromwell won by a length in a hard drive. In the sixth Zeleso led the way to the stretch, when Susisan began racing her and got a slight lead. Ludwigschafen came strong on the outside and won easily, beating both the former contenders. Winners and odds in order: Casseopia, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1;Urania, 3 to 5 and out. The Friar, 7 to 1 and 5 to 2; Dutch Skater, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1; Tom Cromwell, 4 to 5 and out; Ludwigschafen, 7 to

He has offered his life, and he is willing to give it. In ordinary affairs, a man's life is pledged in another way. He assumes obligations that he must live to fulfill. Carelessness of health in this case is worse than undue carelessness would be in war. It is every man's duty to preserve his health to the fullest, and to live as long as he can. The sick man can't do a man's full duty in the world. A man who is weak from loss of flesh, whose nerves are run down, whose blood is impure, who shows from his sunken cheeks and hollow eves and lingering cough that he is on the direct road to death or consumption, can in no way perform the full duties of a man. Gaudaur weighed 175 pounds. He is six feet high, while Stansbury is about seven pounds heavier and one inch taller. After twelve false starts to-day the men took the water together. Stansbury had a slight lead at Craven steps, but soon afterwards Gaudaur pulled up, took the lead and maintained it to the Crabtree, where a foul occurred. Stansbury thereupon stopped and appealed to the referee. The latter, however, would not allow the foul and Gaudaur finished twenty lengths ahead
